

PRESS CUTTING

Homes & Gardens: May 2008

amino
combined marketing solutions

Circulation: 150,000

Rate card: £575.00

H&G ESSENTIAL GUIDE

Gallery CONTEMPORARY FINISH

From glass box style to clean architectural lines, a modern structure can be tailored to suit any property

SIDE BY SIDE

This glazed extension provides much-needed space for a kitchen. From around £12,000, Apropos.

TALL STORY

A towering conservatory echoes the outline of a converted barn. From around £20,000, David Salisbury.

BOXING CLEVER

A minimalist 'glass box' creates a sleek, contemporary look. From around £10,000, GlasSpace.

SLIM LINE

A sideways structure acts as both a conservatory and a kitchen extension. From £40,000, Architect Your Home.

SEE THE LIGHT

This unobtrusive glazed structure opens up the ground floor, boosting natural light inside. From around £20,000, Trombè.

WALL OF GLASS

Sliding doors create a wonderful sense of space in this light conservatory. Price on application, Sun Paradise.

CLEVER ANGLES

Extra height at the front of the structure has been achieved without obscuring views. From around £40,000, Amdega.

ECHOED IN MINIATURE

This conservatory harmonises with the tiled details of the main house. From £18,000, Bartholomew Conservatories.

ON ANOTHER LEVEL

A conservatory-style extension adds space to the first floor of a stone house. From £25,000, Richmond Oak. ▶